My Childhood

In August's warm embrace, I reminisce Childhood days filled with endless bliss.

August 17, a date so clear.

Moments came in memory, crystal clear

Laughter echoed under the sun's golden ray.

Friends and games in the yard we'd play.

Imagination soared, like kite in the breeze,

Innocence and wonder, as time did,

Aug 17, a chapter of lightness.

Ice cream cones, dripping down our hand.

A carefree spirit, like mud castles in the sand.

As years passed by, the memories remain,

August 17, a nostalgic refrain, A cherished past, a childhood's song, In my heart forever, where I belong.

Trip to INS Visakhapatnam

I was very much excited when I heard my father say.. We got invitation from N. Embassy to visit naval ship....

The day came and we got into the car along with my family and reached the beach side in Shuvaikha port. There we saw an embassy staff who verified our civil ID and we got into the bus arranged by the embassy....

The bus went inside the port and we got down near the ship. Navy officers welcomed us onboard. I felt very proud seeing the Indian flag on the ship. Navy officer explained about Brahmos missile, guns, torpedos. He also explained about the ship no. D66 means Destroyer 66, flag symbol black luck.

Inside the ship we saw cabins, gym, medical unit, and power unit. We also saw a hover helicopter. We took many photographs and received gifts from the Indian navy .....

Overall this was a very exciting and proud moment for me to visit the INS Misakhapatnam .....

The Missile Women of India

India's space and rocket technology is rapidly growing. From the missile man, now we have the missile women.

Tessa Thomas. Extremely hardworking and dedicated Tessa Thomas gave all her experience and knowledge and played a vital role in developing the Agni-V's multiple targetable re-entry vehicle. Born and raised in a small district of Kerala, Alappuzha. Tessa's father was an IFS officer and her mother was a teacher. Tessa's fascination for rockets and missiles started from childhood. Her home was not that far from the Thumba rocket launching station. Eventually her childhood fascination led her towards the full time career of Scientific research in Rocket Science. She started her journey with a degree of engineering from Thiyyar College. After finishing her bachelor's degree, she immediately joined Pure Institute of Armament Technology, here she met her husband Sargi Kumar Patel, currently working as a Commando in the Indian Navy, the future scientist took shape in this institute. She didn't stop there as she further pursued MBA in operations management and a Ph.D in Missile Guidance. She said that she was one of the six siblings and her mother wanted all the kids to be independent. Hence, her parents were very supportive. After joining DRDO, she worked under the former President Dr. APJ Abdul Kalam. APJ inspired her and put her into the Agni V project which eventually became the most important milestone in Tessy's life. Extremely hardworking and dedicated, Tessy Thomas gave her all experience and knowledge and played a vital role in developing the Agni V's multiple targetable re-entry vehicle. This is what helped the inter-continental ballistic missile withstand tremendous velocity and temperature of 3000 degree Celsius on re-entering the atmosphere. In 2006 the same missile failed to meet the desired parameters. It was a major setback for the entire organization and scientists who worked hard to make it successful. Tessy stood for this challenge and in a short span of 10 months, all errors eliminated.

She is an inspiration for all the women in India. In a glowing tribute in 2008, The Indian Women's Scientist Association said 'we feel Tessy serves as a role model and an inspiration for women to achieve their dreams and have their dreams planted in both worlds successfully.'

Our Heroes - Soldiers

A soldier is awake in order to make his country sleep, he is trained to even sacrifice his own life in order to save his country. A soldier must be recognised and

MY MOTHER'S GUISE

Time travel the year 2005,
On the August twilight,
When I first opened my eyes,
To see your unfamiliar guise,
And looked deep at your radiant smile, Turned right below your eyes that swept tears of joy,
An euphoric hunch ran down my spine, As I inferred to have reached my Eden.

As years went by when things took a turn,
With a new world forming in the spirit of change,
The only thing that remained is that now-familiar guise of yours, Drawing all of those love I met, While drowning deep at your ceaseless smile, Turned right below those blimful eyes,
That keeps reminding me of my flowers you bloomed, Which I would now like to offer as your flower aisle...

Physical Fitness

It is a topic favored by teens, rejected by parents. Physical fitness is something the current generation lacks and thinks is useless. Whenever a teen wants to go to gym he is hit with comments it's useless, they use steroids, you can workout at home etc. When in actuality reality going to gym daily improves health, fitness and a lot more.

People say take care of mental health then your body but actually reality if you workout daily you feel a lot better mentally, if you are in depression a great medicine is gym.

A common thing among the elders especially parents (Indians) is that they don't care if millions die of sugar, pressure, cholesterol etc. but one person who goes to gym dies it's major highlight for them and they use it as an excuse for not letting their kids to go to the gym.

Lost in the Forest

Once upon a time long ago, there was a girl, her name was Mitra. She lived with her parents in a city. Mitra was a bright ~~an~~ kids and always came up with amazing ideas. Her parents had jobs and they were living very happily. Eventhough, she didn't have any sibling she had many friends, She was now studying in 4th grade. It was summer break and her parents thought that they could all go hiking. So, they went for the hike. Mitra also brought a ball with her to play. When she was playing with the ball she accidentally threw the ball far away. But her parents didn't saw their daughter wandering of somewhere else.

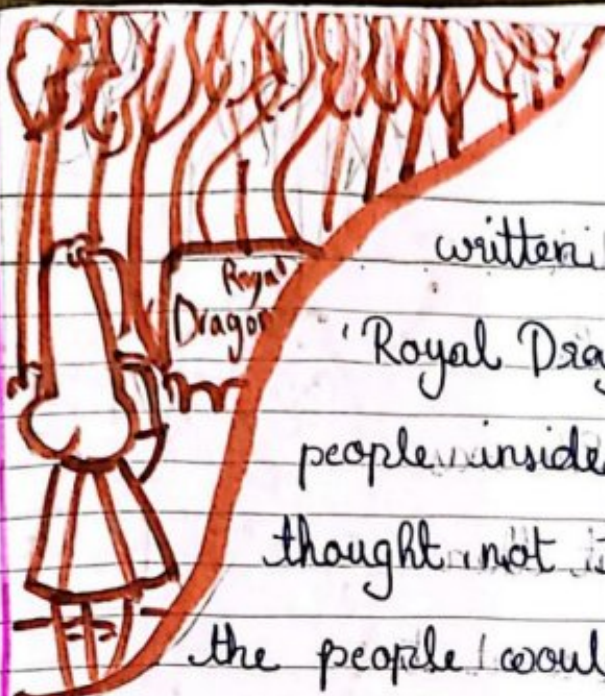

Mitra walked into the forest. She finally got the ball and when she turned around, she saw no one except trees and wishes. She got really scared "but fortunately she could see her footsteps in the ground and she followed it, and finally reached the place where she was living with her parents.

But she couldn't see her parents or anyone and it was also getting really dark. She started crying. They decided to sleep on the ground.
Next morning when she woke up feeling hungry, she saw many people staring at her. But still she didn't see her parents. She got scared and ran away as fast as she can into the forest with her ball. This time she ran so fast that she went deep into the forest. She was really tired and hungry. But there were nothing to eat around there. So she started walking deeper into the forest. She saw a board made of wood.

There was something.

written on it, it was written 'Royal Dragon Woods'. She saw many people inside that town. But she thought not to enter, because maybe the people would not understand her. When she was leaving from that town, she was going to walking away when suddenly she heard something, it was a growling sound so she got scared and ran into the town. All the people were staring at her.

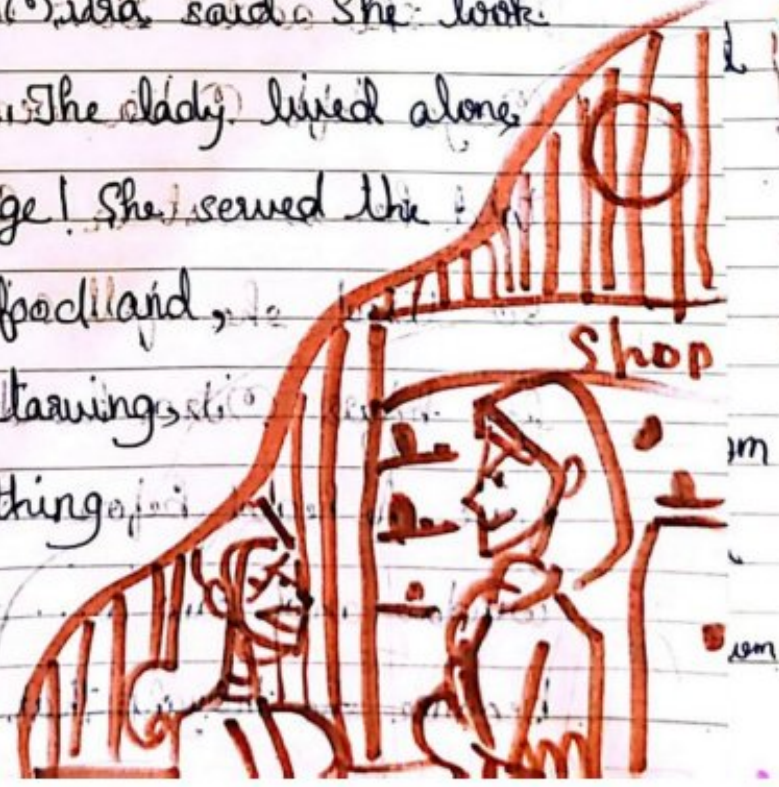

Ditka saw a lady who was not staring at her and told her about her story and surprised she understood what Ditka said. She took Ditka to her house. The lady lived alone but her house was huge! She served the little girl lots of food and, because Ditka was starving, she ate the whole thing in minute! The lady told her name was

Daya. She said "I did have a husband but he was killed by...

She was going to say more but then the bell rang. Daya went to check who it was but Mitra wanted to know more about who killed

Daya's husband, so when Daya would come back she decided to ask her, but when she was going to ask her Daya said "I have to go somewhere and I will return tomorrow afternoon

And she added that use the room upstairs. When Daya left Mitra went to the room that Daya told her to rest in. Of course because she was so tired she fell asleep really fast. After a few hours Mitra heard a loud noise, the same noise she heard before. She looked outside the window and saw a... dragon! She was surprised because she thought that dragons were mythical creature! She went outside, fascinated and still could not believe that dragons really existed. Dilia saw royal soldiers battling the dragon.

So she understood that this town is a kingdom. As I mentioned earlier, Dilia was a very smart girl, so she quickly made an idea and told to one of the soldiers. That soldier thought that what Dilia said, even though the dragon wasn't killed, it was defeated and flew away. The soldiers thanked Dilia and told the king about Dilia and her idea. The king was impressed by Dilia and send king her into his palace. And when Dilia came to the palace the king realized that she was not from this kingdom because she didn't have the crown symbol in her hand. He asked her from where she came from

She told her story. The king became sad the little girl because now she is far away from her parents. He told her "From tomorrow you can live in the palace so that you can give your amazing ideas at good, which is to defeat the dragon of course." She agreed, and went home.

When she reached Daya's house, she thought that maybe the dragon killed Daya's husband. She ate the food that Daya had cooked for her before she left. After eating dinner, she fell asleep. It was the next day she woke up and remembered that the king had told her to live in the palace. So she ran and quickly brushed her teeth, tied her hair and went down stairs. When she opened the door, she saw Daya and the royal soldiers standing outside. Mitra ran to Daya and told her ~~to live~~ that the king had told her to live in the palace from today. Daya told her that she was also going to live with Mitra in the palace. Mitra was happy. The soldiers brought them to the palace.

The king and queen welcome them warmly. The servants showed them their respective rooms were and gave Mitra new beautiful clothes to wear.

She lived in the kingdom for many years.

But still she wanted to find her parents. Mitra studied in one of the best schools in the kingdom. She gave many brilliant ideas to protect the kingdom from enemies and the dragon. And as for Daya she was working as the personal assistant / servant for the king and his family. The king had twins. One boy and a girl. Their names were Arik and Arya. At first they didn't like Mitra, but they eventually became best friends. Many and Many years went by. Mit became 18. One day Mitra was finding a way to destroy the dragon. Daya came into her room. Mitra had a scissor in her hand. It fell down. Daya and Mitra bend down to take it. But when Mitra took the scissor and accidentally scratched Daya's face and she got a big scar on her face. Mitra apologized and Daya said it's alright. Daya said "Mitra I came here to tell she got a big scar on her face.

Pg 7

Mitra apologized and Daya said it's alright. Daya said

"Mitra I came here to tell you that your defense class has started!"

Yes, Ditra also started learning how to defend herself. Arik and Arya were also in her class. After the class, they went to their rooms to refresh themselves. So many days went by, still none of her parents came to rescue her from there. She didn't even know if they are still alive. She was wondering about these things when Arya and Arik ran to her room and screamed together "Ditra the dragon is back!"

She quickly went outside and told the guards her idea. A few months ago she had noticed that the dragon had a gem in its forehead. She studied about it and figured out that the energy and the strength of the dragon was stored in the gem, so the only way to defeat the dragon is to break the gem and also told them how to break it. Then the soldiers got ready for the attack. After a long time battling with the dragon, Milia saw that the dragon had ~~as~~ ~~seen~~ the same scar that Daya had on her face. Then she immediately understood that this dragon was Daya, but how she wondered. Then she remembered, when she was studying about the gem, it also was written that, anyone can turn into any animal or any mythical creature they like with the gem. She was going to tell the soldiers that the dragon was actually Daya, but Arya already destroyed the gem and defeated the ~~gem and dragon~~. The dragon turned into a human and Ostra was right, it was Maya. Everyone were shocked especially the royal family. They trusted Maya so much. Ostra asked her "Why did you do this Maya?"

Maya stood up angrily and said "The king killed my husband! So I wanted to take revenge.

The gem you just destroyed belonged in my family for generation." Everyone looked at the king confused. The king said "Maya, I didn't kill your husband. We were best friends from when we were kids. After your marriage with him. One day I went to the forest to hunt and he came along with me. We both heard a roar of a tiger. He stood in front of me to protect me, I tried to stop him but he didn't. The tiger jumped on him and hurt him really badly. And I shot an arrow at the tiger and it ran away.

Then he himself told me to kill him because he knew he wasn't going to survive. And when I told you

I killed him, you became very sad and angry and hear the full story!" After ~~hearing~~ hearing this story, Daya started crying and said "I am ashamed of myself. I hurt you and the kingdom so much for nothing. You can sentence me to death!" The king said "No, I won't do that! Because you are my best friend's wife. You are like a sister to me. And it was just a misunderstanding. But I have to punish you. You have to stay in prison for 20 years. I am sorry." Daya happily agreed.

And the soldiers took her away. The king thanked Mita so much and said "Mita, you have done so much for us, so in return you can ask me anything you want." She smiled and said "I want one thing and that is my parents can you get ~~that~~ me out of this forest?" He agreed. Mitra was overjoyed but also sad, because she ~~to~~ lived in this kingdom from when she was 9. But still she wanted to meet her parents.

So she started to pack the her clothes and some things the king had gave her. And she said bye to her room and the twins because Anik and Aya were her best friends.

The soldiers took Mitra away from the kingdom and everyone started crying. She was a little nervous and excited to finally meet her parents after many years. She finally reached the place where she slept all those years ago. She thanked the soldiers and started searching for her parents. She was walking with no clue of how to find her parents. She saw a familiar face. It was her friend from 3rd grade, Ally.

She said "Hi, Ally do you remember me, Mitea!" She looked a little confused and then she started to make some weird expressions and said "What!

Mitea, where were you all these years. Your parents were extremely sad you know! They are living with your uncle house. Wait, I'll drop you there"

"Wait, you can drive, but I thought only adults can drive cars!" said Mitea. "Uh dum, dum, people who are 18 and above can drive a car." said Mitea.

~~Mitea~~ Ally as she drove the car. On the way they were talking about Mitea's life in the kingdom and they reached the house of Mitea's uncle. She saw her cousins watering the plants. She went inside the house. No one understood her but they all knew who Ally was. They knew that Mitea was Ally's friend.

Her uncle asked her who she was. She didn't reply anything. Everyone asked her but she kept quiet. And finally her parents came. Mita started crying and ran to her parents and hugged them and said "Did you remember me, I am Mita!" They were surprised, but didn't trust her. But Ally said "But she has the exact green eyes and brown hair. She also remembered my name and your names too." And confessed to them that Mita is well... Mita's parents hugged her. And she told the whole story of what happened after she got lost. They didn't believe that dragons really existed but she showed proof. And every year Mita and her family would go to the forest and see the king and the twins. She became a teacher and she always told this story to all the kids :

had ever teacher. Eventhough .

has now become really old she still told this to her grand children . Every year she would take them there .
